

HAPPY

birthday

So, the clock has struck ¹². As you start the journey of the next chapter of the life i just wanna make you realize how different this year is. Duh! i am here . it has to be different but coming to the other things, yes! it may not be the best kind of birthday. Come on! people are dying, we are in lock down with no knowledge about what will happen tomorrow and to top it you have the icing on the cake the covidita today but know this when life shows you the middle finger u cut it and give it back and what is the best day to do it then today afterall you just leveled up! (gaming reference! Contact Cyber Crusade!). So yeah, dont say this will not be a good birthday. Make sure it is the best in its own way and coming to me , its ironic for me to say it today but i want a gift from you. Will you let me spend your birthday with you? Yes! I knew it! Yaaaaayyy!

So, Happy birthday Milady! and Congratulations! though it does not matter much as you have been already doing it for so many years but finally we will be legally able to have a drink together Cheers!

P.S Don't forget the treat.